

ME

I define myself as a creative person with good technical and organizational skills. I have a strong attitude towards collaboration and team work, although I find my natural environment in independence. I am patient, I can listen to others' opinions and I appreciate sharing ideas, especially when I have the possibility to put them into practice. My strengths are design and documentation. In my free time, it is not uncommon to find me tinkering with PC/hardware, assembling and designing PCs for friends/interested people and providing technical-computer support to anyone in difficulty.

The world is moving faster than ever and I always try to keep up with everything possible.
